How is the VLAN configuration accomplished in the Device Manager?

- A. This configuration is done by clicking the VSAN drop-down list and choosing VLAN All.
- B. This configuration cannot be done in Device Manager.
- C. This configuration is done under Interface selection.
- D. This configuration is done under the IP selection.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Cisco Network Assistant gives you the option to check the total power usage of the Cisco IP phones and access points connected to the Power over Ethernet (PoE) Cisco Catalyst @ switches. This allows you to supervise power budgeting and displays information about whether you have enough power to connect additional powered devices to the switch.
