NEW QUESTION: 2

Refer to the exhibit.

Which two statements are true? (Choose two.)

A. Changing the target interface for an existing SAN pin group disrupts traffic for all vHBAs that use that pin group. The fabric interconnect performs a log in and log out for the Fibre Channel protocols to repin the traffic.

B. Three pin groups are configured: one for the port-channel 10 in fabric interconnect B, one for int e1/32 in fabric interconnect B, and one for int e1/31 in fabric interconnect B.

C. To configure pinning for a server, you must include the SAN pin group in a vNIC policy.

The vNIC policy is then included in the service profile assigned to that server. All traffic from the vNIC travels through the I/O module to the specified uplink Fibre channel port.

D. Edit this to show switch mode

E. In Fibre Channel switch mode, SAN pin groups are irrelevant. Any existing SAN pin groups are ignored.
