NEW QUESTION: 2

Which of the listed three vSAN features provide space efficiency? (Choose three.)

- A. Checksum
- B. Deduplication and compression
- C. Sparse swap files
- D. Two-node cluster
- E. RAID-5/6 erasure coding

Answer: B, C, E

Explanation:

One of the Space Efficiency features of Virtual SAN 6.2 that is available for both All-Flash and Hybrid configurations, is the introduction of Sparse Virtual Swap files. Swap files on Virtual SAN by default, are created with the .vswp 100% reserved. In a thin provisioned/guaranteed capacity perspective, it could be said that they are effectively Lazy Zeroed Thick (LZT).

RAID-5/6 erasure coding is a space efficiency feature optimized for all-flash configurations of Virtual SAN 6.2.

Virtual SAN 6.2 introduces space efficiency features optimized for modern all-flash storage, designed to minimize storage capacity consumption while ensuring availability. One of these features is near-line deduplication and compression.
